

Food for Thought believes that our place on this planet is a gift. With such a gift comes responsibility. Our Company takes this responsibility seriously. Here are some of the ways Food for Thought addresses these responsibilities.

Local Procurement – Knowing the energy use and byproduct of such use in product transportation, and the impact on the economy as a whole, FFT makes every effort to search out and utilize the closest proximity purveyor for its needs choosing local before regional, regional before national, national before international.

“Green” Procurement - Sincere, diligent selection of disposables recognizing the pre-production/post production impact and the availability of effective composting programs. Choosing paper/plastic products with the highest recycled material content.

Waste Reduction – From use of chicken trimmings to printing of both sides of office paper, our Company exercises thought and care before anything can be thrown away, e-mail before faxing.

Recycling – Several programs are in use: Cardboard recycling dumpster, office paper recycling totes, on-site event recycling bins, facility based plastic and metal recycling.

Energy Conservation – Use of low energy usage lighting, full shut down of all appliance during off-hours, full shut down of computer at night, staff car pooling to events, multiple drop deliveries, increase delivery drop-size with decrease frequency.

Social Initiatives – Pay- It-Forward Student Report Card Reward Program, Smoking Cessation promotion and support, regionally recognized Health-Conscious Caterer, Company wide weight loss contest, recipe portion control, special dietary menu options.
